Magical Dance Group MOMIX, Founded by Vermont-Born Choreographer Moses Pendleton, Returns to the Flynn with Alice

BURLINGTON, VT — The Flynn is excited to present MOMIX's *Alice on the Main Stage on October 24 at 7:30 pm. Experience this bold stage adaptation of the classic surrealist children's novel as only the MOMIX dancer-illusionists can tell it. MOMIX founder and artistic director Moses Pendleton, who grew up in Lyndonville, Vermont, is set to return to his home state for this performance of MOMIX's newest work.

Tickets are on sale now for MOMIX's Alice at the Flynn on October 24. Get tickets only at flynnvt.org.

Tumble down the rabbit hole MOMIX-style with Moses Pendleton's newest creation, Alice, inspired by Lewis Carroll's Alice's Adventures in Wonderland. Using this classic as a "taking off point for invention," the MOMIX ensemble creates a Wonderland full of vibrant costumes, gravity-defying choreography, and fantastical set designs. As Alice's body grows and shrinks and grows again, Pendleton's dancers extend themselves by means of props, ropes, and other dancers. Like the novel, Alice is full of surreal imagery and absurd logic. And as with every MOMIX production over the last 40-plus years since the group's founding, you never quite know what you are going to get. Audiences are taken on a journey that is magical, mysterious, fun, eccentric, and much more.

This presentation of MOMIX's Alice at the Flynn is sponsored by PCC Pediatric EHR Solutions and Vermont Public.
